

The most needed social innovations of the 21st century

Panel discussion

Venue: University of Vienna

Dr.-Karl-Lueger-Ring 1, Vienna

Time: Monday, November 30th, 6 p.m. – 8. p.m.

Welcome address:

Rudolf Richter, Dean of the Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Vienna

Moderator:

Sabine Herlitschka, Director of European and International Programmes, Austrian Research Promotion Agency (FFG), Vienna

Panel:

Brenton Caffin, The Australian Centre for Social Innovation (TACSI), Adelaide

Hans-Werner Franz, University of Technology – Social Innovation Ltd., Dortmund

Josef Hochgerner, Centre for Social Innovation (ZSI), Vienna

Maria Carmen Lemos, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

Louise Pulford, The Young Foundation – Social Innovation eXchange (SIX), London

Pierre Valette, European Commission – Directorate Science, Economy, Society, Brussels

Organisers: Centre for Social Innovation (Zentrum für Soziale Innovation, ZSI) and University of Vienna in the framework of the European Year of Creativity and Innovation.

Supporters: Austrian Federal Ministry for Science and Research (Bundesministerium für Wissenschaft und Forschung, BMWF), and Federal Ministry for Education, Arts and Culture (Bundesministerium für Unterricht, Kunst und Kultur, bm:ukk).

Promoters: Austrian Research Promotion Agency (Forschungsförderungsgesellschaft, FFG) and Social Innovation eXchange (SIX), London.

More information: www.zsi.at/socialinnovation

Photographer: Ricardo Carreon / Images courtesy of Centre for Contemporary Arts, Glasgow. Taken from Silicon Remembers Carbon, David Rokeby, 2007. Photographer: Alan Dimmick